

Corinne M. Jorgenson
Executive Secretary, International Institute of Space Law

Corinne Jorgenson is President of Advancing Space, a consulting firm that provides policy and regulatory assessment as well as strategic insights, business and market analysis to government, industry and international institutions. She carries out various research activities and recently successfully led the consensus among 30 space agencies on a Declaration for an unprecedented Heads of Space Agencies Summit.

Corinne Jorgenson has written or co-authored more than 60 articles, reports and papers in the fields of space policy and law as well as telecommunications policy. She has presented numerous papers at various conferences around the world and participated in several space-related studies.

She is the Executive Secretary of the International Institute of Space Law and has been the Editor of the IISL Proceedings since 2002. She has been a key player in launching the Eilene M. Galloway Symposium as well as the IISL-IAA Space Law and Policy Symposium that reached out for the first time to the practitioners' community. Corinne has also reinvigorated the current IISL committees, identified new ones where appropriate and expanded the participation of the membership in the Institute's activities. She initiated UN recognition of the IISL as an UNCOPUOS independent observer and the first IISL Strategic Plan that she led and which results are currently being implemented by the Institute.

Corinne Jorgenson is also a full member of the International Academy of Astronautics, an Associate Fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, a member and former Vice-President Programs of Women in Aerospace, member of the International Programs Committee of the American Astronautical Society, member and former Director of the Society of Satellite Professionals International U.S. Mid-Atlantic Chapter. Corinne has a Technical Engineering degree (France), a Master of Business Administration (France) and a Master in Space Policy (USA).

E-mail: cmj@advancingspace.com / secretary@iislweb.org